Guidelines on the Completion of Special Programme Application Forms
Updated to include:

- New chapters with explanations on how some countries are addressing the gaps in the implementation of the MEAs
- Information on how to use results-based management to design projects,
- Updated definitions of “domestic” versus “proposed” measures and
- Tables providing examples of poorly designed project outcomes and outputs and how to address the problems with such projects.
Updated Special Programme Application Form

Agenda Item 4.2
Document SP/EB.5/3/Add.3
Updated to include:

- Shortening the application form by consolidating sections that ask for similar information into a single question and deleting the redundant questions

- Two new questions were added for countries to define a problem statement and explain the project objective/outcome

- New question was added to incorporate the sustainable development goals

- Language was improved for consistency

- Updated format to make the application more user friendly

| Use of plastic reduces              | • Does not identify for whom or where the expected change will occur.
                                          • Not achievable in the context of one project | Use of single use plastic bags by the public is phased out and reusable alternatives are promoted |
| Plastic waste is soundly managed    | • Does not specify direction of expected change, nor whom, specifically, it will affect
                                          • Not achievable in the context of one project | Reduced transboundary movement of illegal plastic wastes into country X |
| Better chemicals and waste policy   | • Statement is too vague
                                          • Very difficult to know what to measure when selecting indicators
                                          • Would be very difficult to report on the impact of such an objective | Improved coherence and comprehensiveness of existing chemicals and wastes legislation in Country X in the context of its obligations towards the chemicals and waste related Conventions |
